

Habitat for Humanity House in Macedon

In 2001, Western Presbyterian worked with other churches in the Palmyra-Macedon-Farmington Clergy Council to fund and build a Habitat House in Macedon. The churches raised the full $40,000 to build the house through chicken barb-ques, McDonald's share the profits nights, progressive dinners, tea-cup auctions, getting donations from selling boards at local fairs, Fundraising Walks, car washes, etc. etc. etc. The churches provided the volunteers to build the house as well as a person to be the building supervisor. Churches took turns bringing Saturday lunches for the crew. It was a wonderful experience for the churches, Habitat, and the family.
